

Come and get 'em

As a means to raise money for their upcoming trip to Southern California, the Bingham Marching Band came up with the idea to sell mattresses to the public.

Advertising money was non-existent, so creative ways to bring people into Bingham High School on Saturday, Sept. 10 was the only option.

Band players carried signs and performed on the street (primarily 10400 South) to drive customers to the school. It was a fun – and profitable – day for all.
