

A visit with the pros

Riverside Community College is known for its band, which bills itself as “Hollywood’s Band.” The Miners stopped in for a day to learn from RCC and other schools on site, and managed to practice again.

“It’s a high-powered staff,” said Bingham band director Darin Graber. “We go to get out of the cold, do a rehearsal and then go back at night for another.”

The group got a chance to study the techniques of other schools on hand. It’s not the first time Bingham has come here, and the team has it down to a science.

At this point, they were ready for their final effort.
