

Bingham's big finish

The Miners made their mark in the final competitive event of the season, reaching the finals for the first time and surprising virtually every other big school in the process.

"It was huge, huge, huge," said band director Darin Graber.

Bingham was the last school to be announced as having made the finals, and the group let loose a resounding cheer. The highlight was when many of their opponents gave them a standing ovation while walking to the final event.
